Coming to Consciousness: Reflections for Lent 2011

By Angie O'Gorman

"Coming to Consciousness: Reflections for Lent 2011" offers short reflections by Angie O'Gorman on the lectionary readings for each day of Lent, a season which begins with a call for repentance and restoration. We are asked to come to consciousness of God present in our lives and in our world, as well as the ways we individually and communally deny this presence God and work against God's Kingdom. Through Scripture, we remember stories of our ancestors in faith and ask in what ways they speak to us today. We are called to consciousness, returning and reorienting ourselves to God, awaiting "what Isaiah called the time of favor, the day of salvation, when we might come back to ourselves and from that place, better know God and thus, each other."

The Nonviolent Moment: Spirituality for the 21st Century

By Sr. Mary Lou Kownacki

Sister Mary Lou Kownacki draws deep insights – her own and those of others – into the nature of human relationships and peacemaking. She offers the reader a personal process for developing a spirituality of nonviolence tailored to face and transform the violence and suffering of our times. The chapters are a line-by-line reflection on her Prayer for the Decade of Nonviolence. Each chapter concludes with reflection and action suggestions. Excellent resource for individual reflection, faith sharing groups, parish gatherings, families, classes, or religious communities.
